Product Vision	Project Mission
The product is a Microsoft Teams tab, which provides a similar web interface to the pre-built Sharepoint functionality. The interface will handle the authentication of the users making sure that the connection between the two services (MS Teams and NextCloud) is secure and stable. The application aims to serve as a back-up, so that Microsoft Sharepoint is not a single point of failure. Additionally, it enables the user to use an open-source software solution for data management, which may be especially attractive for German clients, since NextCloud is developed in Germany. Our plugin aims to achieve transparency between a client and a service, so that the user knows how his data is handled - something that's missing in a closed source solution like Microsoft Sharepoint.	Using the Teams to NextCloud plugin will provide the user with an alternative to the already build in Sharepoint plugin for storing and managing data inside of Teams. Users will be able to upload, download, modify data that is stored in NextCloud from inside of Teams as this is a core functionality of data management software. Additionally, our plugin will enable the users to bind a shared folder to a specific channel, so that only the members of this channel will be able to see it and work on it.
The reason of existence of the envisioned product (beyond this project).	The mission of this particular project (in the context of the product vision).
